If you are a Windows 8.1 user and you are looking to activate Windows 8.1 or Windows 8.1 Update through a dedicated web page, then you are in the right place. We are going to show you the most logical process for setting up the operating system, but that does not mean that it is the only method. The steps you will find below will show you the way to activate Windows 8.1 using a dedicated web page in just a few simple steps. How to Activate Windows 8.1? To start the process, you will first need to install an activation program, you will use this program and input the activation information that you had been assigned through an authorized support company. After that, you will have to go to the official website of Microsoft. To activate Windows 8.1 or Windows 8.1 Update, you have to search for the Internet page of that website in your Internet Explorer and input the required activation key that you received. After you complete the steps, you will see the official page of that web browser where it will show you the primary key and the links to the other activation websites. You need to select the website and the installation file that will help you to activate the operating system that you want. To do that, you need to click on the option button located on the bottom of the left pane of the browser. You will then be asked to select the method of installation and the location of installation. After that, you have to make sure that you have got the right information and click on Install. You will see the instructions that will help you with the setup process. You will also get a confirmation
