2.3 out of 5 based on 16 ratingsFormer Congressman Joe Scarborough is losing his shirt over the tax reform debate in Washington right now. If you're wondering why Joe is losing money, he didn't pay taxes for a long time. His reality star wife was paid $7 million in 2014. Joe dropped a 13 million dollar lawsuit when the IRS was going to audit him. Scarborough told us, "I've been paying taxes." He says he's doing his part to pay the "federal taxes". He even took a picture of the suit with the Tax man. TRENDING: Obama Statement on Ginsburg Demands GOP Senate Honors Her Dying 'Instructions' and Put Off Vote on Supreme Court Nominee Until New President Sworn InStructure of the first transmembrane helix of the three-domain immunoglobulin V-region analogue of cytochrome c. We describe the NMR structure of the immunoglobulin (Ig) variable-region transmembrane helix (VTH) in detergent micelles. The Ig VTH is approximately 18 residues long and is homologous to the transmembrane domain of the three-domain immunoglobulin light chain. The three-dimensional structure of this short transmembrane helix has several unique features that are likely to be important for the immunoglobulin, cytochrome c, and helical lipid interactions that underlie the major steps in the protein folding/assembly process. The three residues comprising the first helix are separated by a very large hydrophilic gap. This natural insertion-deletion position is not only consistent with electron microscopic observations of membrane protein folding but also raises the possibility of a natural mechanism for removing water molecules from the lipid bilayer to facilitate folding..
